THE RECLAMATION DISPUTE.

At the Supreme Court this morning, Sir Henry Berkeley mentioned the forthcoming appeal against the Chief Justice's judgment in the reclamation dispute in which His Excellency the Governor was plaintiff and Chu Ping defendant. Judgment was given for defendant.

Sir Henry now appeared for the Governor, the appellant, and Mr. M. W. Slade for Chu Ping, the respondent.

Sir Henry asked that a day be fixed, and his Lordship fixed Monday next at 10 o'clock, Mr. Slade agreeing.

A HEAVY FINE.

The master of the steam launch Hoi Hong was fined $15 at the Marine Court to-day, for failing to exhibit the regulation sidelights. For appearing within thirty yards of an infected or suspected vessel the master of a licensed passenger boat was also fined $75 by Commander Basil Taylor, R.N.

SANITARY BOARD.

Mr. R. O. Hutchison presided over a meeting of the sanitary Board on Tuesday afternoon when there were present Hon. Mr. P. N. H. Jones, Colonel Bedford, Hon. Mr. A. W. Brawn, Registrar-General, Mr. A. Shalton Hooper, Hon. Mr. E. A. Hewitt, Dr. G. H. L. Fitzwilliams, Mr. Ho Kom Tong, Dr. F. Clark, Medical Officer of Health; Dr. W. W. Pearce, Assistant Medical Officer of Health, and Mr. W. Bowen-Rowlands, secretary.

MALARIA AT SHAWKIWAN.

With reference to the report of the Committee dealing with malaria at Shawkiwan the Hon. Mr. A. W. Brewin said—I should like, before agreeing with the motion, to hear a little more about foreshore and malaria. I did not know before that foreshore covered with salt water could be a breeding ground for mosquitoes. The people who live there, the boat people, are a very useful section of the community, and a people we cannot very well do without. If it is necessary to remove them I hope the Government will find some other place where they can put their boats ashore under proper police protection.

Colonel Bedford said that one of the great objections to the present foreshore were the nullahs which made waterholes in their course, and which waterholes except at very high tide were not washed out. Another objection was the terrible smell which existed there during the whole of the summer. He thought most people were satisfied that the bottom of the bay was nothing more or less than a deposit of excreta, which was lying there at low or high tide. He did not say that the smell had anything to do with the introduction of malaria, but as the Committee pointed out, the nullahs could not be effectively drained until they reached the sea. He presumed that the reclaiming of the foreshore would not entirely force the boating population out of the bay, although it would certainly put them further from the shore.

KOWLOON CONSERVANCY CONTRACTOR.

FINE.

A complaint against the Kowloon Conservancy contractor was then heard.

Dr. Fitzwilliams insisted that the man did not seem either capable or willing to fulfil his contract, and he thought it should be cancelled. The man had been threatened by the Board, and therefore probably only laughed at similar charges.

Mr. Shenton Hooper said that if the further charges were proved the man should be fined the maximum penalty. He wished to know how many specific charges there were for which the contractor would be liable under his contract to a penalty in each case.

The President: There are four main charges.

The contractor after being called before the Board, was fined $25 each on three of the four charges preferred.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

CHINA SOCIETY'S ANNUAL DINNER.

LONDON, MAY 27.

The annual dinner of the China Society,

held last night at the Trocadero Restaurant, was a bright affair. The brightness was partly due, no doubt, to the comparative absence of postprandial oratory, for there was the more time for social intercourse and those altogether delightful recollections of "old China hands," who again met the friends of their earlier days.

The Chinese Minister, Lord Li Ching

Fong, presided very ably, and among the company there were Sir Charles Dodgson,

Lady Dodgson, Sir J. McLavy Brown, Sir H. S.

The day being Derby Day, with the King's colour on the winner of that historic race, there was additional enthusiasm when the chairman gave the health of His Majesty. Next the health of the Emperor of China was given, and then the chairman gave the toast of "Prosperity to the China Society." He said:—

After a year's separation we meet again, all of us fearing, I hope, that we have derived some benefit from the course of treatment we have undergone during the Society's last session. At the outset, however, the programme of the Session, viewed as a whole, may have seemed rather a stiff and heavy course to go through, but taken in small quantities at intervals of four weeks, it proved an easy task, as is testified by the presence of so many tonight at the feast.

My toast as you know is "The prosperity of the China Society"; indeed it will have to have the full advantage of the rich store of material that's within its reach.

China has got a long way to go before she reaches the top of the world, but she is making progress every day.

With kind regards to all my old friends and old enemies, I bid you all adieu.

Yours ever truly,

WHAT WILL BE THE OUTCOME?

It is rather surprising to observe that the London Statist, considering its old-time political leanings, is inclined to agree with Prince Von Bulow's statement in the Reichstag, that the great superiority of the German army in Europe has proved the safeguard of peace and that a parallel development of the Germany navy would undoubtedly subserve the same end. That is evidently the idea entertained by a good many Germans we know, but it certainly was not the opinion of the school of political thought which the Statist at one period represented. The Utilitarians who took their cue from the Manchester political economists could see no useful purpose served by a big standing army and an enormous navy, and they used to argue, as Sir Edward Grey argued the other day in the House of Commons, that the mad race for increasing armaments on land and sea would land the nations in bankruptcy. But the Statist flings this argument aside as pitiful and in the course of time its demonstration gives utterance to the belief that while some nations must necessarily be outrun in the race for military and naval predominance, the struggle that is going on at present does not really mean imminent war or national bankruptcy in any case.

Recent history is cited in support of this position.—Every reader who is old enough to remember the years that immediately followed the Franco-German War will recollect how generally it was predicted that the adoption of universal liability to military service by the majority of continental countries must end either in war very soon or in bankruptcy before long for the poorer states. It is now thirty-eight years since the Franco-German War came to an end. In that long interval there has not been a single great European war by which we mean war between powers of the first rank.

questions had to be solved, to forego her ancient ways of thought which are dominated by the axioms of pure reason, and to follow in our aggressive footsteps.

THE DISBARMENT CASE.

MR. DIXON CROSS-EXAMINED.

Accusations of Perjury.

Before the Chief Justice (Sir F. Pigott) and Mr Justice Gompertz, at the Supreme Court, to-day, the hearing was continued of the action in which Mr C. F. Dixon, solicitor of Messrs Hastings and Hastings, is called, upon to show cause why he should not be struck off the Rolls.

Mr E. Potter (instructed by Mr C. D. Wilkinson) was for the applicant; Mr John Hastings; while Mr H. G. Calthrop (instructed by Mr Harston) was for defendant.

Mr Dixon again went into the box, and replied to questions by Mr Calthrop as follows:

"When did you see ex-judge Gulab for the first time?—I think it was in January.

Did you make an entry in your diary?—There are several entries in my diary on the matter."

The Chief Justice.—We are not disposed to pay much regard to Gulab's evidence and I think that the charge must be dropped. We could not possibly accept his evidence supposing it stood alone, and certainly it does not strengthen the case. Therefore I think in the circumstances that charge may be dropped.

Witness continued, replying to questions from Mr Calthrop, saying on March 20th Capt La Pique came to him to give instructions for a power of attorney in his name to sell on his behalf $60,000 fully paid shares in the Messageries Cantoniens. He consulted Mr Hastings who suggested that his own name should also be included in the power of attorney. It was drawn up accordingly and executed by Capt La Pique on the 27th of March.

What happened after the interview with Capt La Pique?—On March 26th Mr Hastings said he wanted to speak to me after five o'clock. I went into his room about 10 minutes after five, after the staff had left. He said he wanted to speak to me about a very serious matter. He said he had reason to believe that he had been taking money from the office. I denied the charge. He said he had made independent inquiries and he was sure it was so. He said he had seen witnesses and had obtained from them written statements and had forwarded a statement to his brother and had received a cable telling him to do what he thought best. I emphatically denied the charges and I asked for particulars of the alleged acts of misappropriation. He said he was not then in a position to give me particulars, but they consisted of small sums received in respect of Police Court cases. He suggested that I should go to Japan ostensibly for a holiday and that I should never return. He also suggested that I should go to Shanghai and start practising there. He said I should do very well in Shanghai. He also said Hung Kam Ning was "in it with me." There were his words. He said he had seen Hung and Hung had made a clear breast of it. I told him I knew nothing at all about the charges, and as he had made these charges it would perhaps be better if I should stay away from the office until the matter was disposed of. He told me not to do that but to come down to the office as usual. He also said that if I would go away he would undertake that no one in the East should know why I had gone away. He said he had spoken of the matter to only two friends, and they were very discreet. He told me to think over his suggestion that I should go away and the interview ended. I left his room and went back to my own room. I had been there about three minutes when Mr Hastings called me back again into his room. He said he didn't want to ruin me but unless I would resign he had no money to prosecute for the other side. Then he had his presents, one or two occasions from clients, and he said he had given that to him this year?—About $325 a month, I think.

What rent do you pay for your house?—$14 a month.

The Puisne Judge.—What he received or what he spent?

Mr Calthrop.—I am putting it both ways. Mr Potter said he had not the slightest wish to see Mr Dixon's accounts.

That is what I referred for a brief period to consider the point.

On their return the Chief Justice said they thought in a subordinate issue the onus did not lie on the side complaining, but with regard to any of those subordinate issues which Mr Dixon might think important he must take the onus of proving it if he thought necessary and he must not throw it on the other side in any infernal way. He must take the risk. If he did not he was perfectly at liberty to let it go as it stood.

The Puisne Judge added that they must be his evidence and part of his case. The accounts were not put in.

Replying to Mr Calthrop, witness said in his first year he received in salary and commission about $275 a month, about $300 the second year, about $370 the third year, and about $425 the fourth year. He brought some money out with him, about $200 or $240, and had on mortgage a sum of $400. He had several sums sent out, from $200, to $270, $290, $300, $320, $340.

What have your average living expenses been this year?—About $325 a month, I think.

What rent do you pay for your house?—$14 a month.

Witness then produced receipts showing that his monthly averages were:—Dairy Farm, $11.40; Mutual Stores, $19.52; Weissman, $4.31; cook, $60; servants, $60; coal, $13; club expenses, $17.88. There were, he said, a few other items, such as ice and soda water from Watsons, which only amounted to a few dollars a month.

What have you to say about your Police Court diary?—I say that by comparing it with the diaries of any other solicitor I am now I think, and I had a separate banking account for the other side. In the account I had about $1,200. The next morning Mr Hastings called me to the office to transfer this money from my Trust Account to the firm's client account.

Did you go down to the office the next day?—Yes; I went down as usual. I was trustee of a bankrupt's account; I am now I think, and I had a separate banking account for the other side.

In the account I had about $1,200. The next morning Mr Hastings called me to the office to transfer this money from my Trust Account to the firm's client account.

The witness was by letter and he did not give me any reasons. I drew a cheque at once, and it was paid into the client's account at the office. The next day I made a careful note in writing of everything that had taken place at my interview with Mr Hastings and I handed that statement to Mr. Harston a day or two later, and it has been in his custody ever since.

After that did you receive a letter from Mr Hastings?—I received a letter from him on the 1st of March. It was brought into my room just about five o'clock as I was leaving.

That was the letter that has been put in?—That was the letter of accusation, accusing me of having admitted taking money.

Well, what did you do?—I went to see Mr. Harston the next day. The same evening my lord, Mr. E. E. Ewens, and myself, I engaged with Mr. Harston to take Mr. Hastings' statement, and Mr. Harston had an interview with Mr. Hung at which Mr. Hung made a statement. I was also present.

What happened after?—On the day after Mr. Ewens and Harston wrote a letter to Mr. John Hastings on my behalf, denying that I had made any admissions.

On that day did you receive another letter from Mr. Hastings?—Either that day or the previous day I received a letter asking me to return my agreement signed by me, cancelling my agreement with the firm.

What happened then?—After Mr. Hastings had received the letter from Messrs Ewens and Harston he sent me to see him in his room and I went in. He said

"Wall, Dixon; so you have determined to fight me." I said "I don't want to fight, but I can't go away as you want me to. He said "If you don't go away, I will ruin you." He also said "Why don't you go to Canada? If I were a young man and down on my luck I should go to Canada. There's plenty of money to be made here."

I said "I preferred to stay in Hongkong where I can make a living. I don't, my lord, that I asked him to allow me to practice in Hongkong." He said he would not allow me to practice in Hongkong, as I was "cut out" of his business.

He told him I was prepared, if he desired me to do work for certain people whom he could easily say were his clients. He said such an undertaking was not practicable. He also said "What will all the other solicitors say if I allow you to start and open another office here? There are too many solicitors' firms here already." I told him I could possibly get a partnership in some firm here, and he said "No one will give you a partnership after I have finished with you." He said I had admitted taking effect of him, and I told him I had not admitted it. He said no one would believe my word against his. I then left his room.

Did you continue the offer after that?—Yes; I remained there until the 30th of April and in the negotiations had been going on with a view to having the matter settled out of court by arbitration. At that time it was considered that the interests of both parties to avoid publicity if possible. That was agreed to, but Messrs Hastings and Hastings violated that understanding by suspending me on a miserable pretext during the negotiations and thus causing me a doubtful light. Your Lordships will remember that Mr. Hastings in his evidence stated that one of the grounds for suspending me was that he had received complaints from clients as to my manner towards clients.

Can you explain that?—Witness then went into detail in explanation contending that Mr. Hastings' reason for suspending him was a "miserable one." Witness admitted he was angry with a Chinese boat man, adding "It is quite necessary to get along with that sort of man when he is palpably lying." Mr. Hastings came in and did not complain at all. I challenged Mr. Hastings to show that my conduct towards any respectable Chinese was not exactly what it ought to be.

What happened after that?—On the 29th of May I received a letter discharging me.

Asked if he had made a promise to Mr. George Hastings not to continue to live with a European woman, witness replied in the negative.

With regard to your expenses; are you quite ready to produce all particulars?—I am.

Where do you keep your banking account?—Hongkong and Shanghai Bank.

Are you willing to produce your accounts at the bank?—If the other side wish to see them.

The Chief Justice.—It is for Mr. Dixon to take the oaths.

Mr Calthrop.—Yes, my lord.

The Chief Justice.—What is your contention at the point?

Mr Calthrop.—I am willing to produce my account to show how he spent his money.

The Puisne Judge.—What he received or what he spent?

Mr Calthrop.—I am putting it both ways. Mr Potter said he had not the slightest wish to see Mr. Dixon's accounts.

That is what I referred for a brief period to consider the point.

THE DISBARMENT CASE
MR. DIXON CROSS-EXAMINED.

Accusations of Perjury.

Witness was questioned as to further loans which he again denied.

Is it your contention that the man paid the money after bank hours and did not get a receipt until the following Monday?

Yes. The receipt books are locked up in the safe and he could not get them.

Witness was questioned as to the copy of the ledger which was supplied to Wong Hui Tong, and which he admitted was misleading. He, however, did not order the copy to be supplied.

Mr. Potter.—I put it to you that you are to blame for this misleading account?—No, I'm not.

I suggest that you instructed Mr. Kort, the cashier, to make out a copy of the ledger so the Mr. Wong Hui Tong could not tell what costs were credited to him. —It is true that I told him of the copy of a ledger, but I put it to you that you did it for that purpose?—I deny it.

And so that Mr. Wong Hui Tong should not know the $300 which he says he paid was not credited?—I deny it. He told me the account was $2,000 wrong and it was.

But he could not tell from this account whether or not the $300 was credited?—He could not.

Questions were then put respecting the allegation that Mr. Dixon had failed to account for a sum of $20, balance of costs in a Police Court case in which Wan Hi was interested. He denied ever having made the alleged agreement to charge $300.

This is more invention than fact.

Do you know any reason why Wan Hi should perjure himself in this way?—This sort of man can very often be got at.

Do you suggest he has been got at?—Yes.

By whom?—By Tuan, the interpreter.

For whom do you suggest Tuan was acting?—In his own interests and in the interests of Mr. Hastings.

Do you know that the story of Wan Hi coming to the office on January 14th and paying you $20 is fiction?—Yes, absolutely false.

Questioned as to the account of his expenses which had been drawn up, witness said it simply covered the bare necessities of life.

Is it an estimate for two persons?—It is.

You don't suggest that it is a complete account of your monthly expenditure?—No.

Do you provide the European woman with clothes?—My lord, is it necessary to go into all these details?

Mr. Potter.—My lord, they have been gone out.

The Chief Justice: It is legitimate cross-examination on what you produced this morning.

Mr. Potter.—Do you supply the European woman with clothes?—Yes.

Do you pay this woman anything?—I give her what I am able, my Lord, what she requires.

Mr. Potter concluded his cross-examination; and the hearing was again adjourned.

CUTICURA CURED BAD ABSCESSSES

And Running Sores which Grew and Spread—Discharge was Disagreeable and Pain was Fearful—Continual Buzzing in Head.

FOUND A TRUE CURE
AFTER MANY FAILURES

About twelve months ago, abscesses began to break out on my head and I had runny sores behind my ears. The sores grew and spread and soon a nasty discharge was continually running from them, causing fearful pain. There was always a burning sensation under my skin. I also tried several ointments, but they failed to give me any relief. At last I thought of Cuticura Ointment, so I gave it a trial. I had a tin of Cuticura Ointment and a bottle of Cuticura Pills. After using them for about twelve days I began to feel considerably better and the abscesses began to disappear. I no longer had the burning noise in my head. By the time I had started on my second tin of Cuticura I was cured. It is about six months since I was cured and I have never felt the slightest sign of the abscesses returning. I can now give thanks enough for the Cuticura.

Yours truly, Mr. Annie Lyle,

Town Lower Green, near Weymouth, Dorset, England, Nov. 26, 1908.

COMPLEXION CLEARED

By Cuticura in a Month.

"For nearly five years I was suffering from a disease on my face and neck which caused a number of abscesses to form. I had to live a lonely life while I had this disease, having used numerous ointments. Then I was told by a friend 'Why not use the Cuticura Remedy?' Why not use the Cuticura Remedy? I did and the disease disappeared in about a month. I was released from my old complaint. Thanks to the Cuticura I have now a clear complexion."
